From Booklist

The long-awaited third volume in the Unicorn Chronicles series is longer, darker, and more complex than the previous stories. Cara's father, Ian, and two unlikely companions are searching for Cara's mother, who has been hidden in the Rainbow Prison by Beloved, archenemy of the unicorns. Cara embarks on her own dangerous mission to seek the truth about the mysterious Whisperer and to possibly prevent Beloved from invading Luster. The pacing is furious as Coville propels his multiple plotlines to a riveting cliff-hanging conclusion. Readers will scream for book four. Grades 5-8. --Chris Sherman

The third book in the Unicorn Chronicles is easier to understand if one is familiar with the background of the earlier books. Two plots are woven together. Cara Diana Hunter is on a quest for a critical story, and her father is on a journey in search of his wife. Transitions between the two tales are signaled by musical interludes that are helpful in keeping the listener grounded. The cast is strong, with a wide range of voices. At times, Cara and her little companion, the Squijim, are jarringly loud and shrill???as if to emphasize the tension of the plot. For the most part, however, the performers allow the story to create the mood and provide dimension to their characters. J.E.M. © AudioFile 2008, Portland, Maine
